

COURTNEY GUMPF

BIOGRAPHY

Executive Producer & Co-Owner of Flying Scooter Productions

Emmy-nominated, award-winning Executive Producer, Courtney Gumpf's career began behind-the-scenes in movie making, casting on films such as Perks of Being a Wallflower, Out of the Furnace, Jack Reacher and Dark Knight Rises. The jump to producing was the natural progression, working to manage production teams for clients like FedEx, Giant Eagle and PA Lottery.

Today, along with her producing partner Jennifer Schlieper she is the co-founder of Flying Scooter Productions. Gumpf co-produced commercials, documentaries, brand activations and short & long-form media for some of the largest regional and national brands while helping raise millions of dollars for non-profits.

The Ocean-Five Years is their first film festival release, winning Best Documentary at VIFF and the Audience Award for Best Documentary Short at Pittsburgh Shorts & Script Competition, and Officially Selected at Milan FFI, Documentaries without Borders International Film Festival, Red Rose Film Festival, Toronto International Women Film Festival, Venice Shorts and Berlin Lift-Off Film Festival (as of Feb. 2025).

Gumpf leads the digital marketing team, securing and converting thousands of leads for clients in all sectors.

She sits on the board for The Pennsylvania Film Industry Association (PAFIA) and The Amelia Project.
